Musings

by GEORGE ALLEY

KENNETH SKINS A SQUIRREL
It was mulberry time. Kenneth's keen youthful eyes had made daily observations of the berries on the tree in the Bennett's front lawn. Among the whites and pinks he had at last discovered a few near purples and some blacks, than which a young Jung squirrel likes nothing better.

The very minute agreement was reached concerning taking him out to Kaufman's woods early next morning, off he pedaled to get the hunt on. He was not to be deterred. That would make it official. Mumsey's approval, being of the doubtful order, his mother was duly bypassed. So no phone call disturbed her bridge game. He had taken the matter straight to the Supreme Court—Aunt Laura.

As yet personal gun bearing was forbidden but a sly shot or so from the quiet Remington 22 had small chance of getting into the record. Just to go along, to find and stalk and turn them were joys to an eager boy with red-blooded love of the outdoors in his veins.

Tom, Dick and Harry—we hoped—had not discovered our branch bottom lined with mulberries all along it. But early birds had preceded us and fresh tell-tale boot tracks and an empty 410 shell and even some of number 12's told us that other nimrods had found our squirrel Shangri-la. Consequently we bugged but one and this of course went to Kenneth.

"How many, Kenneth?" asked Miss Laura, as she raised from her convalescent's bed. Kenneth beamed and displayed the fox squirrel to her.

"Why didn't you stay down at George's and let him help you dress it?" she asked.

"Oh I can do it. I've watched him skin a hundred."

Working near the window where he could better get instructions from Aunt Lollie, he received the first batch of orders.

"Use your granddaddy's axe and chopping block. Cut the feet off first then . . . Why, Kenneth, you should take your nice shirt off. Roll up your sleeves, child. Save the head. Lollie likes the brains, you know."

A misdirected axe blow cut off better than one half of a hind leg and severed the tail. Kenneth's pet chicken, "Biddy," perched himself upon the chopping block to partake of any edible tid-bit or morsel of food that might be a by-product of the skinning operation.

"Now, Biddy, if you don't want to join Charlie L., Annie Boleyn and Johnnie the Baptist, you'd better move down."

"I'm not so hot with the axe as grandpa Lee."

"Then to Miss Laura, 'I've nearly got his shirt off, Lollie.'"

But in the midst of the hide pulling, mulberry juice and pulp had squirted through the abdominal bullet wound and what with blood and what with berry marmalade Kenneth's face, and arms and shirt were taking on a gory look. Luckily Aunt Laura's hearing was better than her vision.

In fact, she did not even see Biddy when he made a quick stab and seized one end of a piece of viscera and headed out around the house laying out a trailing strand behind him like a fire truck laying hose.

"At it Lollie, how long's the alimentary canal?"

"What's that got to do with skinning a squirrel?"

"Oh, nothing 'cep Biddy's struck out with one end of Bunny's insides in his bill and yonder he comes with it still running out like a fishing line."

"Well, quipped Lollie, 'Just set the hook and let him have it. But save the brains!'"

At the next determined effort towards removing the pelt, Bunny's forepart completely separated from the aft as Lollie inquired, "How you're doing, Kenneth?"

"He just came uncoupled," Auntie.

"Now just take what's left of that thing down to George's and let him help you," ordered Aunt Laura.

"All right, all right," meekly replied the youthful pelt, by now dejected and disgusted.

A hungry pointer and a gluttonous retriever, just turned out of the kennel yard for exercise, met him at the drive way entrance, certain from the smell of fresh game, that

'BATTER UP' HEARD AROUND TOWN NOW

Things are looking up in the baseball world around Fulton as the City Council announces that the Fairgrounds park has been donated to the Fulton Baseball Club and Fred Biggs has signed a contract to manage the newly named Fulton Lack-outs.

Skipper Biggs who managed the local club after the second half of last season is a native of Memphis, Tenn., and his appearance on the local diamond was like a shot in the arm to the team who had been playing cellar ball for a long, dry spell. The balmy breezes Fulton is enjoying these days is getting under the skin of this little Kentucky town, that would rather see a baseball game than a personal appearance of the President of the United States.

K. P. Dalton, field supervisor of the State Alcoholic Beverage Department and who will again be prexy of the local club has sent contracts to: Jack Litzenfelter, last year's second string catcher, Westell, Cunningham, Eldridge and Hardcastle, pitchers and Guyton and Peterson, outfield.

Army Opportunities More Attractive, Stern Says

Captain Philip L. Stern, commanding officer of the US Army and US Air Force Recruiting Station, 29 Federal Building, Paducah, said today that regulations governing reenlistment have been greatly liberalized and made more attractive in recent months.

Former servicemen may now retain their grade and reenlist for their own vacancy, if they reenlist within 20 days from the time of discharge.

They were about to receive more than the customary table scraps which Kenneth, whenever he was visiting from Memphis, regularly brought them. The simultaneous leaps caught Kenneth by surprise and gulped down by the pointed while the retriever took care of the section containing Lollie's favorite portion.

What a time for Mumsey and daughter, Patsy, to be returning from their party! Beholding Kenneth in tears and blood stained raiment, Mumsey gasped, "He's been shot! He's been shot! I knew it would happen!"

Then with a stern look at me—that harbored little of admiration and a complete antithesis of the usual Martha Craig smile—she blasted me with, "You men with your guns and your dogs! Kenneth my Kenneth, O my son!"

What words of men can make an irate woman pause? Certainly none of ours could change her course of action. The hospital was in sight and the ambulance brought Mrs. Koon's car to a halt and the Martha Craig smile back again.

Upon the recommendation of the deacons, the Baptist church voted, without dissension, to begin construction on the much-needed and long-sought educational building, immediately, Rev. James G. Heisner said today.

The new building will be connected to the present building to form an L, extending to the west line of the church property and south to the alley. The outside measurements will be 50 by 58 feet, three stories high.

The first floor will be used for the Woodrow Fuller class, a large social room with library, and also a convenient kitchen. The second floor will be used for a large nursery and a complete beginner department, including an assembly room and four class rooms. The third floor will be used for the Primary department, with an assembly room and six class rooms.

It is estimated that the approximate cost of this building with the heating plant will be $50,000.

Groundbreaking service will be on Easter Sunday, with work to start April 1st.

Fire Destroys Dresden Courthouse on Thursday

A fire that originated in the cupola of the courthouse at Dresden completely destroyed that building in an early morning fire, the News learned Thursday.

Partially covered by $75,000 in insurance the building of a new courthouse will probably be discussed when the county board meets on February 27. All county records were saved, having been stored in fire-proof vault.

$288.55 COLLECTED FOR MARCH OF DIMES

A total of $288.55 was collected locally in the recent drive for funds for the National Foundation for the Prevention of Infantile Paralysis. Collected at the picture shows was $160.66, while $127.89 was collected through the Fulton schools.

A portion of this amount will remain in Fulton for local use and the remainder will be sent to the National Foundation.

Hubert Jacob, principal of the Fulton high school was local chairman of the March of Dimes drive.

JOSEPH WILLIAMS GETS RAVE NOTICES BY FAMOUS CRITICS

It is not only the folks of Fulton who believe that its native son, Joseph Brent Williams is one of the finest singers in America today, for press notices by some of America's most outstanding critics substantiate the belief.

Mr. Williams will appear in concert here on the evening of March 8 at the Woman's Club under the joint auspices of the Lion's Club and the Woman's Club.

"Tickets are now on sale and commitments in charge are urging that purchases be made at once as only a limited supply are available. The price of admission is $1.50 for adults and 90 cents for students, Federal tax included."

The critics say: "He disclosed a voluminous, rich voice of marked possibilities, which he used with taste and warmth."—New York Times.

"A young singer of genuine ability."—Los Angeles Times.

"Williams' voice and Victor Herbert's music thrill record first night crowd. He made a dazzling romantic Captain Dick."—Memphis Press Scimitar.

"A very personable young man with a most pleasing voice of excellent truth and range."—Wilmington, Del. Morning Herald.

"Mr. Williams was outstanding as interpreter of the oratorio, and his careful and exact performance of the florid melodies was a delight."—Schenectady Union Star.

"Brent Williams' fine tenor was good to hear."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Extraordinarily clear singing of the English language."—New York Herald Tribune.

discharge.

Captain Stern also stated that if they do not reenlist within 20 days, however, they may still be able to reenlist in the grade held at time of discharge if they come back in within 90 days and enlist for three, four or five years. "And, remember, they may still be able to reenlist in a grade as high as technical sergeant if they possess an MOS which is desired by the Army," he said.

Mrs. Clarence Mocham is still her home on West State Line.

ROTARY'S LADIES NIGHT PLANNED FOR EARLY DATE

Ladies Night, the eagerly anticipated annual event of the Rotary Club, at which the members of that organization entertain their Rotary Arns is soon as at hand, and President Flappy Hogan has appointed a committee composed of John Earle, Gene Williamson, Fred Sawyer, Jack Snow, Paul Westpheling and Clyde Hill to work out the arrangements for the occasion. John Earle is chairman of the committee appointed at the Tuesday meeting of the club.

Highlighting the luncheon meeting was an enlightening talk on United Nations by Miss Mary Martin, who recently was instrumental in bringing Dr. C. S. Lowry to Fulton to speak on that subject at the Woman's Club.

Attending the meeting as guests were Dr. H. E. Tittsworth of Clinton, Byron Beard and Chas. Barnett of Martin.

P. C. Ford has been dismissed from the Fulton hospital after several weeks illness of pneumonia.

With an unequivocal endorsement by the Chamber of Commerce of TVA power for Fulton and the City Council voting 4 to 1 (one vote abstaining) to prepare an ordinance authorizing a proposed Power Board to enter negotiations with the Kentucky Utilities to purchase their facilities here, the question of TVA for the city is fast becoming the No. One topic of conversation in every gathering of two or more persons.

SHORT, SHORT STORIES

By The Staff

There's going to be a movie at the Fulton Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday that should be a "must" on your entertainment agenda. The movie, "Abie's Irish Rose" starring Dennis Morgan and Andrea King. As the ad would say, it's a bouquet of beauty and romance and the songs . . . mmm . . . they will bring back many a memory.

Welcome to Fulton Eugene Gregory and family. The patrons of Swift and Company's hatchery department are glad to have you here. Mr. Gregory will be manager of that department at Swifts. The Gregorys are domiciled in the Yew . . . apartment in Highlands . . . and have a very charming little three year-old daughter. They're from Waterloo, Iowa.

Here's a good one! Reminds us of a headline that was posted in the OWI press room as a thing not to do when writing. The headline: "He shot the girl he was engaged to's brother."

The classic appearing in a local paper hereabouts:

Wednesday, Mayor Scott T. Lemmon of Mayfield said the Mayfield city police are cracking down on motorists who are violating the parking meter law—and yesterday morning the mayor's shiny new Ford sedan was tagged with a police ticket, because there was no cash in the slot of the meter in front of the space occupied by the automobile parked by the mayor's print shop on West Broadway.

or a little one—we offer you all the resources of our experienced, skilled service. Phone 470

While statistics prove that generally power rates will be lower for the average electric consumer, the News will continue its research to present both sides of the issue.

At a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Monday conspicuous by one of the largest attendances in the history of the organization, the members and guests heard TVA officials, consulting engineers, and other interested parties tell of the benefits and ramifications of purchasing electric power from the Tennessee Valley Authority.

In well-chosen words C. of C. President Russell Pitchford said:

"The Chamber of Commerce advocates reduced power rates for Fulton, regardless of the source of supply of such power. We espouse this cause in view of the fact that cheaper power rates would benefit each and every citizen consumer in our city."

"Cheaper power rates will be incentive to various industries to locate within our city."

"The organization of a city power board will mean that the ownership of the electrical system will be a city owned and operated enterprise, taking it's rightful place alongside the water works as a city owned utility."

"Profits from the resale of electrical energy will remain with the power board, and not be paid to Corporate Utility companies, outside of our city."

Returning to Fulton to present TVA's story to a larger audience was R. J. Beamish Jr., divisional director of the government project who advised his listeners that TVA power was available to the city if compliance with the regulations of the Act of Congress authorizing government power and provisions of Kentucky's Enabling Act is effected.

To be accomplished before negotiations are opened is:

1. Passage of a city ordinance complying with the provisions of TVA's enabling act to begin negotiations for acquisition of an electrical distribution system. If the city passes the ordinance the City Council would then

2. Appoint a Public Utilities Board to handle all negotiations incident to the acquisition of such a plant.

3. If negotiations fail with Kentucky Utilities, within the time allotted by law (approximately two years) the Board may either erect a distribution plant or enter into condemnation proceedings with the company owning existing facilities.

TVA is not a matter to be entered into lightly it was brought out at the special council meeting on Tuesday. Thorough and diligent is the work being done by the City Council, spearheaded by W. T. (Bill) Browning, chairman of the finance committee of the council and a member of the regular eight committee.

Important among the facts brought out at the meeting was the expenditure of approximately five to ten thousand dollars to defray expenses of the negotiations, viz, appraisal fees, salaries of the Public Utilities Board, not to exceed $300 per annum per member, additional attorney's fees, etc. This amount may be included in the total revenue bonds to be sold to either purchase existing facilities or erect a new distribution system.

At the Chamber of Commerce meeting Glenn King past mayor of McKenzie, Tenn., told in detail the advantages to the City of McKenzie in operating its municipal TVA plant there. The city has operated at a profit since its inception and has accumulated a financial reserve to more than retire its revenue bonds, which are serial and not callable bonds.

Misconstrued is the statement that the city would derive additional funds to operate city projects, for Mr. Beamish said, "revenues from TVA operated plants can only be used to (a) retire the investment (b) finance new construction and (c) to lower the rates, when the other two alternatives are accomplished."

The Chamber of Commerce entertained as their special guests the mayors of Fulton, South Fulton, and Hickman together with members of the board of councilmen from the respective municipalities.

"Brotherly Love . . . We Need It"

A newspaper is a mighty weapon. In the hands of unscrupulous persons it can be a vicious, diabolical instrument to spread evil and to persecute the innocent. On the other hand it can be a great force, a mold of public influence, a "doer of good" to help our fellowman—live by the four freedoms—press, religion, speech and freedom from want.

With the millions of evil forces afoot in the world today, is there any reason, then, that precious time, space and newsprint should be devoted to disseminating gobbledegook to tear down man's privilege to believe as he chooses.

How different it would be in Europe today if little men had not had big ideas to rule the world, if dictators had not tried to usurp man's right to worship, if self-styled saviours had not tried to dominate the world with their narrow-minded thinking.

Yes, we are grateful for America. We are grateful for the Christianity that prevails here, for the common incentive we have to live and believe as we please; may the Supreme Being be the Judge of the rightness of the creed by which we live.

We found a beautiful poem among our exchanges this morning and because it tells in some small way the thing we feel about our fellowman, we are reprinting it in full.

THE OLD CLAY HOUSE

(Author Unknown)

I.
When I am through with this old clay house of mine
When no more guide lights through the windows shine
Just box it up and lay it away
With the old clay houses of yesterday.
And visit it, my friends, and try if you can
To bury the wrongs since I first began to live in this house.
Bury it deep and forget because
I want to be square and out of your debt.
When I meet the Grand Architect face to face,
I want to be clean.
Of course, I know it is too late to mend
A bad builded house when we come to the end
But to you who are building
Make alterations while there is time.
Just look over mine

II.
Just study this house, no tears should be shed
It's like any clay house when the tenant has fled.
I have lived in this house many days all alone
Just waiting—and oh, how I long to go home.
Don't misunderstand me—this old world divine
With love, birds and flowers and glorious sunshine
Is a wonderful, wonderful gift to man
And a wonderful place and a wonderful plan;
Yet somehow we feel when the cycle's complete
There are dear ones across we are anxious to meet,
So we open the books and check up the past
And no more forced balances—this is the last.
Each item is checked; each page must be clean
It's the password we carry to our Builder Supreme.

III.
So when I am through with this old house of clay
Just box it up tight and lay it away.
For the Builder has promised when this House is spent
To have one all finished with timber I've sent While I lived here in this one
Of course it will be
Exactly as I have builded, you see.
It's the kind of material we each send across
If we build poorly, of course, it's our loss.
You ask what material is best to select T'was told you long since by the Great Architect
"A new Commandment I give unto you
That you love one another as I have loved you."
So the finest material to send up above
Is clear, straight grained timber of BROTHERLY LOVE.

TIDBITS

STATISTICS AND FACTS

When I was a student, forty years ago or so, I heard almost daily that farm life was going to the dogs, that urban life was being built on the ruins of the country. I heard often schemes to induce people to "return to the soil," as the catch phrase had it. For some years I actually felt that the great calamity was about to happen, that we would starve to death. And now, what a difference.

All the time these old-timers were fearful of our future because customs were changing, a new agriculture, based on genuine learning and sound economics, was developing. Merely because the outward forms of it differed from what older people had known, many thought it slowly dying as a great challenge to humanity. But with in a few years tangible evidence of better farming were everywhere about us. Old fields that were abandoned when a child had been redeemed by modern scientific farming and made to contribute their share to human welfare. The most fertile fields that I knew did not at their best produce as much as many of the less-favored ones do now. On a farm that would have constituted a single pasture thirty years ago now is produced enough for a good-sized family.

When I began to teach school, forty years ago, a high-school graduate out in the country away from genuine city life was unknown in Kentucky. My generation had to go away from home to secure the very elements of education. Think how in my country children today have the advantages of as good high schools as exist in our land. If I were to find myself lamenting the lack of opportunities of school children in a small town that of children in the open country accessible to a high school. The fact that so many people have secured a "higher" education four years beyond the "high school" we used to know them "not in itself make educated people, but it forms a basis for a liberal education that college and life can and will bring.

Try to Remember

Grace Noll Crowell

CONSIDER your heartache of the past, the pain
You may have thought could never be relieved;
Recall some ancient sorrow that had lain
For long upon you—could you have believed
You would forget it as you have? Ah, no,
We are so blind along the road we go!

Our eyes are hidden and we cannot see
This grief will fade, this hurt will be as naught;
This sorrow pass away—the peace we sought
Will rest upon us and we will be glad,
Forgetting all the sorrow we have had.

Try to remember, Hearts, when grief is sore,
That it will pass, as it has passed before.

It is surprising how much country life has improved its comforts and conveniences, even though it is still far from perfect. But what about the ragged edges of our towns even those which, like mine, boast of their culture? Every time I drive out into the state, I am impressed with the R.E.A. lines, which in a very few years, years hampered by war conditions, have reached nearly every section of every county. Refrigeration alone is worth all the money that R.E.A. lines cost, in improving the safety and variety of foods eaten on the farms. Radios have penetrated just about every kind of area, even beyond the electric lines. The remotest country man or woman or child knows what the world is saying and often knows enough about public affairs to embarrass you and me, who live and have lived for many years in the city.

The thing that disgusts me often is that hosts of people of my age are still thinking only of the crude days that we spent in the country a half century ago. Having left the farm as young people, they may rhapsodize about it and plan to return to it in their old age, but meanwhile they remain as far from farm life and the understanding of farm people as possible. As I have said many times in this column, the various farm organization strike me as about the most alive groups now in existence. They are practical rather than theoretical. They get things accomplished and are able to see the achievements of each other at stated intervals. The farm population is smaller than it used to be but as certainly still adequate to its tasks. One of my oldest acquaintances, who has been a successful farmer longer than I have lived, told me recently that every day of his life he has needed to know the most abstruse secrets of chemistry to carry on his farm. He said that a farmer cannot get too good an education, that every day will offer use for the most abstract phase of knowledge. And the farm a man who has had little formal training but who has grown up with the farm has adapted itself to changes.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 22, 1948.

The Golden Text is: "Who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him?" (1 Cor. 2:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? . . . For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever." (Rom. 11:34,36). All are welcome to our services.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Palestine Homemakers Club will meet Friday, February 20, (today) at 10:30 a. m. at the community center.

"Finishing Slip Covers" will be the lesson.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Roy Bard, Mrs. A. M. Browder, Mrs. Percy King, and Mrs. Glyn Bard.

Can you measure up for a Regular Army Career?

HOMEMAKERS REPAIR FURNITURE

How to repair broken or wobbly furniture was demonstrated to leaders of McLean County Homemakers Clubs by Miss Vivian Currutt, specialist in home furnishing at the UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The leaders, in turn, relayed the information to the members of their clubs. The lesson was one of a series of four, to be climaxed with the fitting and making of slipcovers.

When a young man vainly boasted, "I am wise, for I have conversed with many wise men," Epictetus made answer, "And I with many rich men, but I am not rich." The richest blessings are obtained by labor.—Mary Eddy.

Spiritual vision is not subordinate to geometric altitudes. Whatever is governed by God, is never for an instant deprived of the light and might of intelligence and Life.—Mary Eddy.

OVERWEIGHT CAN BE EVEN WORSE FOR HEALTH THAN FOR LOOKS

It's smart to be thin, more for the sake of your health than of your appearance, says Aiken Welch who tells how overweight can harm in Redbook Magazine.

Studies indicate that by age fifty, one of every two women in the United States weighs from ten to fifty pounds more than she should.

And married women are 28 percent heavier than single ones of the same age. Most doctors and scientific investigators agree that we—men and women—weigh too much simply because we eat too much.

We should think twice before taking second helpings; for humanitarian reasons, to help feed Europe's starving populations, and for common-sense reasons, to live longer.

SCIENCE TELLS WHERE MEN EXCEL WOMEN — AND VICE VERSA

Are women superior to men or vice versa? That question has been hotly debated over the centuries, and for years leading psychologists, psychiatrists and sociologists have been making exhaustive studies to determine relative differences between the sexes, according to John E. Gibson. Writing in Redbook Magazine, he gives answer to some of the fundamental issues in the battle:

"The consensus of leading psychological studies is that men definitely excel when it comes to coldly logical thinking. They are also better at making quick decisions, can assess a situation more objectively, and are less likely to have their judgment affected by emotional drives and sentimental prejudices.

"Woman does not possess man's objective aggressiveness, and her intellectual activity is directed inward to a far greater extent. She tends to live in her own personal world, where things and events must be highly personalized to have real meaning for her. Her intelligence is directed primarily toward the business of living itself, so that she is able to maintain her mental and emotional balance under conditions which would drive a man to the nearest psychiatrist, or perhaps to suicide. (Three times as many men commit suicide as women.) There is, in fact, evidence that women are able to 'take' the shocks and vicissitudes of life better than men.

"Studies show that although the average woman falls in love as many times as the average man does, she is much more likely to marry without love than he is. Chief reasons given for the loveless marriages: to gain economic security, to bear children, and dread of spinsterhood.

"Again, tests indicate that women find repetition much less monotonous than men—a great many actually enjoy it. A woman, for example, can sit contentedly knitting for hours on end—whereas the average male would be bored silly in no time at all.

"Authorities agree that women have greater physical and emotional vitality, and are more soundly constructed organically."

Fattens Cattle On Grass and Roughage

A system of fattening cattle largely on grass and roughage was presented by Prof. A. J. Dyer of the Missouri Experiment Station at the Farm and Home Convention at Lexington. Calves which weighed 400 pounds when put on feed received only 10 bushels of corn each until sold as two-year-olds averaging 1,150 pounds.

Sixty percent of their increased weight was made on pasture, 20 percent on roughage in winter and 20 percent on a full feed of grain in dry lot. Gains through two winters and two summers were about as follows: 100 pounds the first winter, 250 pounds the first summer, 150 pounds the second winter, and 200 to 250 pounds the second summer.

Grazing one steer an acre, the Missourian got about 200 pounds of gain an acre. This was more profitable than the grain that could have been produced on the same land, Prof. Dyer said.

COVER CROPS VALUABLE

Woodford county winter cover crops are worth $10 to $25 an acre for the feed they produce, according to estimates made by County Agent H. R. Forkner. At present prices of cattle, they may be worth even more. Most of the tobacco and other cultivated land in the county is growing rye, barley, wheat, vetch or crimson clover.

CATTLE PROFITABLE

County Agent Gray H. Williams of Knox county says John W. Campbell made a good demonstration of the value of pasture in raising beef cattle. He bought eight steers in the Fall of 1946, let them run on pasture during the year, feeding a little grain, and sold them last Fall at a profit of $800.

The Garden

Vegetable gardening is a fine hobby to pursue, and a healthful one, too, as it gets the gardener outdoors where he may get his share of sunshine vitamin, and an inexpensive sunbath besides. Gardening is beneficial exercise, as much the same motions are used as on a golf course, where fabled office persons and others go to "get their feet on the ground." It is a safety valve for pent-up emotions; an excellent way to reduce pressure after a difficult day is to whack off weeds and deal death to insects in a garden.

Gardening imparts to the gardener the ultimate in satisfaction, as he realizes that in producing his vegetables he has become their part-creator, and this should make him proud. Further, the vegetables that result are incomparably fine food; garden-fresh, they hold all their nutriment and goodness, and their producer may be proud of them on just that account. That is to say that benefit flows from growing the vegetables and from the vegetables themselves. "Who cuts his own wood is twice warmed."

Now, having a garden is easy where there is the space, but many house-plots are too small to afford the space, or enough of it. But it may be that in the neighborhood vacant lots can be found, that with a bit of cleaning-off of rubbish may be made suitable. Perhaps the resulting garden may not be adequate in that all the family's vegetable needs may be grown there, but the food budget's load may be lightened surprisingly if care is taken to select the vegetables that return the most good per square foot, or if favorite vegetables are selected for the return they make in flavor and other special satisfactions.

That is to say that everybody who can, this year should have his own garden.

Don't miss any great opportunities, see your local US Army and US Air Force Recruiting Sergeant.

DR. W. E. PETERSEN of the University of Minnesota, ... most frequently quoted American dairy scientist, whose staff produced this movie, has worked tirelessly to bring American dairymen methods up to date. Let him show you some of the facts of milking!

Years of painstaking research on the functions of the cow's udder have resulted in world wide fame for Dr. Petersen. His tireless activities for the betterment of American dairymen have made him one of the best known and most often quoted authorities in the dairy field.

Little of what is known by science is in actual practice in American dairy farms, but it is no fault of Dr. Petersen's. He travels more than 50,000 miles each year to address dairy farmers in this country and Canada, and much of the progress towards better milk production on the average farm is a direct result of his own, and his graduates' teachings.

By combining the technique used to create his famous mechanical cow—an udder kept alive by an artificial heart and lung of his own design—with a revolutionary surgical dissection, Dr. Petersen has succeeded in exposing the inside of an actual udder during the operation of milking.

Roundhouse Round-Up

By Alice Clark

Before we go on with other news, want to make a correction in an article appearing in the Fulton Daily Leader on Saturday evening, February 14, 1948. This article was pointed out by the editor as a true story, I'm sure, but it doesn't happen to be a true story the way it was written. The story was about a canary and an egg.

The canary in mention did have an egg, in fact she had six eggs... and I hope they are all singers, as I have the promise of one. But how the story came about, goes something like this.

I happened to be talking to the employees wife in regards to the C Service Club (she is on the entertainment committee) and she laughed and told me the canary had an egg and in case I saw her husband to tell him that Suzie (the canary) had an egg. And that is what I did. But no doubt the some one reporter was trying to be cute and intimidated the wives of I C employees use the company phones for all sorts of silly conversation.

I want it understood the wives of the IC employees here are very nice and they seldom call their husbands and when they do, they usually tell me what they want and ask me to relay the message. When that happens it is usually an illness, death or something else important, never such foolishness as was reported in the Leader story. In the first place our General Foreman, Mr. Matlock would not stand for it. And to the wives of the Fulton Roundhouse we take off our hats and also thank you for not being the kind who call their husbands every fifteen minutes or ask to tell them something every few minutes and when the wives do have an important message for their spouses we are more than glad to give the message or have them call home.

There are two wives going around these days with their heads together trying to figure out where their husbands got their new nicknames, which happens to be "Handsome" and "Bunk House."

Mrs. Stanley Hayes and daughter, Gale have returned from Jackson, Tenn., after spending the week end with relatives.

Mrs. W. R. McKenzie and children, Patty Gale and Buddy have returned home after a visit with relatives in Jackson, Tenn., over the week end.

Mrs. James Wade and children, Tommie and Paul have returned home after spending the week end in Jackson, Tenn., visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Gamblin and daughter, Jessie Bell have returned home after a visit with Mrs. Gamblin's parents at Linden, Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howell have returned home after being the guests of Mrs. T. P. Clark of Jackson, Tenn.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. J. A. Bowers has been moved home after undergoing an operation at Jones Clinic, and is now on the road to recovery.

We are sorry to hear that Engineer H. H. Kuffer who has retired is on the sick list and home, he is on the road to recovery.

Let's remember to be safety-minded at all times.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Blehinger are back home after a vacation to Arizona, New Mexico and several other places of interest.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Grace Marlin is on the road to recovery after being on the sick list in I. C. Hospital, Paducah.

Let's don't forget the Illinois Central Service club will sponsor Miss Billy Walker and her Texas Longhorns on March 5 at the Fulton-high school, so let's all come out as there will be fun for both young and old.

URGE WINTER CHECK-UP ON CALF RATIONS

Failure of farmers to feed enough vitamin D in calves born in the fall often results in rickets. According to veterinary authorities, owners will save themselves plenty of trouble by taking time out now to check up on the vitamin D, calcium and phosphorus content of their calf rations for winter—and add sufficient amounts of these elements where necessary. When calves do not get enough sunshine or some substitute form of vitamin D, or when their diet is deficient in minerals, there bones become so weak that they break under even slight strain. The usual symptoms of rickets are arching back, enlargement of the ends of the long bones, and slow growth.

TOO MUCH COD LIVER OIL KILLS CHICKS

In a report just issued by the Ontario Veterinary College in Canada, attention is called to the fact that chick rations containing too much cod liver oil can cause death. In one large flock studied, many chicks lost their appetite, became emaciated and died after extended feeding of a mash "loaded with cod liver oil. Staff veterinarians of the college said that the owner had been trying to increase the vitamin A intake of the chicks by adding fish oil to the ration, but that he was completely uninformed as to the amount required. What he should have done, they said, was to let the birds have free access to the oil.

*Her man may work from sun to sun—
But this housewife's work is easily done!*

Yes, indeed, the smart housewife lets Reddy Kilowatt do it. She appreciates the value of her electrical service, and makes all possible use of it. Watch her smile when you mention the "drudgery of housework," for drudgery went out the window when Reddy came in at the service entrance.

Whether it's housework, cooking, or laundry, the best way to do it is as handy as her electric switch. No wonder she's happy, and off to town so early. She's had the world's finest servants—her electrical servants—helping her with her chores.

She's happy about another thing, too. Electricity is the smallest item in her family budget—and does the most for her. It costs less today than ever before. In fact, she's getting twice as much electricity for her money as she got 10 to 12 years ago—and she's using twice as much as she did then.

She doesn't have to be a Lady Gotrocks, either, because with her low-cost electric service, she'll tell you she can't afford not to make full use of all the electrical servants available to her. She knows her electricity is worth more than it costs.

SPRING CLEANING BEST TIME TO THINK OF FALL(ING DOWN) COUNCIL ADVISES

Ladies, it may be spring house-cleaning time. But it's fall the National Safety Council is worrying about. The kind of fall that breaks bones, that is.

The Council has good reason to fret. Those statistics that are so interesting (until they mean you) show that falls are the nation's No. 2 accident killer.

The ladies, who among their manifold duties may consider themselves the safety engineers of their homes, can do a lot to reduce the annual toll of 16,500 fall deaths in the home by thinking of the fall during spring cleaning.

The Council says they can do this in two ways—first, by making sure they are not numbered among the victims because they use unsafe cleaning methods, and second, by using cleaning time as a chance for closeup inspection of the fall hazards around the house.

Here's how you can protect yourself. To reach the high places, use your kitchen step stool or a step-ladder in good repair. Never climb on boxes or unsteady chairs. Sitting on a window sill to wash outside windows is just downright fool-

Roots of Culture YOUR BIRTHSTONE AND ITS MEANING

JANUARY—THE GARNET
BIRTHSTONES DATE FROM THE 12 GEMS IN HIGH PRIEST AARON'S BREASTPLATE WHICH SYMBOLIZED, IN TURN, ISRAEL'S 12 TRIBES, THE ZODIAC'S SIGNS AND THE 12 MONTHS.

JANUARY PEOPLE ARE THINKERS, ORATORS, TEACHERS AND SCIENTISTS.

JANUARY'S BIRTHSTONE, THE GARNET, WAS WORN BY THE ANCIENTS TO ENSURE SAFE TRAVEL, HEALTH AND CALMNESS.

THE LOVELY GARNET HAS ALWAYS SYMBOLIZED FAITH AND CONSTANCY.

hardy. Don't stagger downstairs with loads of bedding or other objects that are too heavy or obstruct your vision. Keep your cleaning tools picked up and safely out of the way. By all means don't make an obstacle course out of your stairs. Watch yourself on newly-waxed floors, especially before the rugs are relaid.

To protect the rest of the family as well as yourself the year round, house-cleaning time is an opportunity to make a note of all the hazards you see from time to time around the house, but promptly forget or put off removing. The Council asks that something new be added to the cleaning routine this year by having a pad of paper and a pencil handy. List those hazards as you come across them, and then consult with hubby on a definite plan to eliminate them before some member of the family pays the price of neglect.

But writing down hazards is only the first step, cautions the Council. That doesn't remove them.

When young men ask your advice about what they should do from here on, you'll be doing them and the nation a real service by telling them about the U. S. Army schools.

ALFALFA FOR BROOD SOWS

In spite of repeated advice to farmers that sows must be given substantial amounts of alfalfa to build healthy litters, many hog producers are failing to heed this advice, says the American Veterinary Medical Association. "Countless numbers of pigs, and inestimable profits are being lost every year by producers who disregard the nutritional needs of their herds," this group declares. It is suggested that throughout the gestation period the sow should receive 15 to 30 per cent of alfalfa hay or meal along with balancing amounts of ground corn and oats plus a high-quality protein supplement. Access to good pasture also should be provided whenever possible.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

There are good reasons for combining canned string beans and celery in a casserole dish. In the first place, new flavor and texture are given to the beans, which have become monotonous about this time of year. Then the beans help to stretch the celery—a more expensive vegetable, points out Mrs. Pearl Haak, specialist in foods at the UK college of agriculture and home economics.

Scalloped String Beans with Celery

1 cup canned string beans
1 cup uncooked celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1-4 cup vegetable liquid
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-4 cup grated cheese
1 cup bread crumbs

Cook the beans and celery for 15 minutes in the liquid from the canned beans. (The celery should be left slightly crisp). Make a white sauce of butter, flour, milk and vegetable liquid. Add salt and cheese. Place half the beans and celery in a greased casserole, cover with half the crumbs add remainder of vegetables, cheese, sauce and remainder of crumbs, which have been buttered. Place in hot oven for 15 minutes to blend flavors and brown crumbs.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

Post mortems on the 1947 Christmas buying rush indicate that most luxury buying is a dying duck. Americans, squeezed by higher prices, are spending their money more and more for essential items, or saving it to wait for a price break.

Thrift gained ground as a national virtue in 1947. The nation's mutual savings banks reported a gain of a billion dollars in deposits. Some $22 billion dollars are now held in savings accounts.

This billion-dollar increase in yearly mutual savings accounts doesn't maintain the rate of deposit increases reported during the war years, but new savings volume is greater than in most pre-war years.

CAR BUILDER'S REPORT—Although more new lightweight streamline trains made their appearance during 1947 than anytime during the post war period of construction, production of cars was still far below rated capacity of the nation's carbuilders. According to Cham Carry, president of Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Company, world's largest builder of streamline passenger equipment, deliveries in 1947 were restricted by a number of factors, including a shortage of skilled labor and the variety of new car designs. Since the end of the war, Carry stated, it has been necessary for his company to develop 197 different floor plans for the 2,000 passenger cars ordered by the railroads from Pullman-Standard, while other companies in various other industries turn out thousands of finished products from the same blueprint. As a result the firm's order book since car-building was resumed in 1945 has averaged only about 10 cars per week, with orders ranging from only one car each of a certain type to a requisition calling for 153 cars of the same design. Despite these conditions, the company completed and delivered 347 units in 1947, bringing to 630 the number of streamline-cars delivered to railroads since the end of the war.

THINGS TO COME—Auto batteries get quick first aid from a new battery charger that can be installed inside your car. The unit, plugged into any 110-volt AC outlet, is said to bring a rundown battery up to full charge overnight. Thundering truck noises, producers of sleepless nights for city-dwellers, can be muted to less annoying volume with a new gadget that fits in the exhaust pipe between engine and muffler. A Rochester, N. Y. manufacturer has developed a folding minnow trap in transparent plastic to enable sportsmen to keep an "at a glance" check on their bait. Doorstep fumbling and juggling acts are eliminated with a new automatic key case which selects your house key automatically with the push of a button. A robot "efficiency engineer" in the form of a new control instrument which measures and records machine unit productivity in factories has been developed by a Detroit firm. New desk model bookkeeping machine posts statements ledger and proof journals simultaneously without requiring a trained operator.

CHALLENGE—The nation's grain situation, in the news steadily for weeks, took a new twist the other day that is being watched with interest by many segments of American business and industry. Schenley Distillers Corp., New York City, precipitated events when it filed two suits in the District of Columbia challenging the constitutionality of the government's program of rationing grain to distillers, and charging that the government discriminated against whiskey makers in favor of other grain users who are not being restricted in any way. The grain-rationing program was authorized by anti-inflation legislation, seeking a permanent injunction, charged the government is singling out an industry which pays more than $2,400,000,000 in taxes, employs directly or indirectly more than two million people, and yet is the consumer of less than one per cent of the nation's total grain supply. And, with wheat demanded for food conservation programs, Schenley pointed out it uses only corn, and any corn denied distillers would simply be used up by others who are unrestricted.

BITS O'BUSINESS—The nation's railroads are scheduled to spend about $320 million dollars during the first quarter of 1948, an increase of about 108 per cent over the same three months last year. Retail shoe sales are expected to slide off during the opening months of 1948 indicating stiffer consumer resistance to recent price increases. The nation's net farm income of $18 billion for 1947 represents a net gain of 20 per cent over 1946. Sporting goods, in limited supply since the war's end, are expected to be much easier to get this year. Motion picture companies are strongly alert to the threat of increased competition from television this year. Research plans call for quick developing film that will make it possible to make movies

WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT TVA

A house wife, using an electric iron, electric refrigerator, electric lights, and other electrical gadgets: "I lived in Martin and had the same appliances that I have here, and my light bill was a little higher there than it is here."

A mill operator: "I thought seriously of opening up my plant in Martin because of the high demand rate of Kentucky Utilities. I could have about $300 a month under TVA."

A very large Fulton industry: "I believe that I could save about $2000 (yes, two thousand) a month under TVA."

Small commercial plant, cleaning plant: "A plant operating in TVA territory, containing a little more machinery than mine, pays $17 a month. My bill here is $40 a month."

A civic leader: "As sure as communities all around us use TVA, some day Fulton will operate and er such power. Negotiations, will take the same amount of time ten years from now as they do today. So why not get started now and have it operating in good shape ten years hence."
